The Guidebook to Protected Areas of the Philippines is a series of publications that aim to highlight areas of ecological, economic, and cultural significance that are vital to sustaining the natural and cultural heritage of millions of Filipinos.

The books feature the wealth of species and ecosystems, traditional practices, and natural landscapes and seascapes that define the country’s rich biodiversity and underline the significance of their conservation.

Volume 1 was released in 2015, while the second volume was launched during the celebration of the International Day for Biological Diversity at the Museum of Natural History – National Museum in Manila on May 22, 2018.

The series will eventually cover all Philippine protected areas as a part of a campaign to promote ecotourism to these incomparable, but unheralded, natural destinations.

Both books were published by the Biodiversity Management Bureau, a staff bureau under the Department of Environment and Natural Resources.

The books are for room-use only. Please visit the DENR Central Office Library at the 3/F of DENR Hostel Bldg., Visayas Avenue, Diliman, Quezon City. ###
